

EDITORIAL

This edition corresponds to number 13 of our annual magazine Guidance and Society. This year is particularly significant for those who make this publication possible and for all who, from different workplaces, join to our initiative and guidance projects.

At first place, especially due to the next international scientific event that will take place. It is about the II Ibero American Guidance Congress “Educational and Occupational Guidance as a strategy of inclusion and equity throughout life” (CIO 2013), organized by the Post-Graduate Department, the Career specialized on Educational and Occupational Guidance, the Vocational Occupational Guidance Centre, this magazine and the Chairs of Guidance and Preventive Psychology, from the School of Psychology, State University of La Plata.

This year we also celebrate the Vocational Occupational Guidance Centre twentieth anniversary, where different activities for the community are performed, such as research, university extension interventions, information on educational offer and programs to those who need support to make educational, labor, personal or social projects at different points of life.

Besides, in 2013 it has been 15 years since the beginning of this publishing undertaking, being the first one an “Especial edition” in 1999. Since then, Guidance and Society has gone through different qualification levels, presently indexed in several databases, and since 2007, also in the Argentinean Scientific Magazines (CAYCIT-CONICET), besides it takes part in the Scielo project and it is published, as always, bilingual and trilingual and in two formats, print and digital.

The next number will include the 2013 CIO recommendations.
